No Homework This Week!

Please don't let your child become "rusty" during the summer. Encourage your child to read books, stories, comic books, letters, news, etc. every day during the summer vacation.

Bookstores offer a variety of summer practice materials that are very helpful, especially 2-3 weeks before school starts again in August. Writing skills need to be addressed as well. Buy a "cool" notebook and get him/her into the habit of writing stories, writing notes to you, writing letters to friends or family, writing about summer day experiences, etc.

Dear Parent:

The school year is coming to a close; we are at our final count down! I would like to take this time to thank you for all the help and support you have given me this year. It has been a GREAT year full of discoveries, learning and fun. I deeply treasure the opportunity of knowing and teaching your child. I wish you and your family a wonderful summer!

Dear Parent,

I give you back your child, the same child you confidently entrusted to my care last fall. I give him back pounds heavier, inches taller, months wiser, more responsible, and more mature than he was then. Although he would have attained his growth in spite of me, it has been my pleasure and privilege to watch his personality unfold day by day and marvel at this splendid miracle of development. I give him back reluctantly, for having spent nine months together in the narrow confines of a crowded classroom, we have grown close, have become a part of each other, and we shall always retain a little of each other. Ten years from now if we met on the street, your child and I, a light will shine to our eyes, a smile to our lips, and we shall feel the bond of understanding once more, this bond we feel today. We have lived, loved, laughed, played, studied, learned, and enriched our lives together this year. I wish it could go on indefinitely, but give him back I must. Take care of him, for he is precious. Remember that I shall always be interested in your child and his destiny, wherever he goes, whatever he does, whoever he becomes. His joys and sorrows I'll be happy to share. I shall always be his friend.
