

A Few Minutes with the Colonel By: Kaitley

On October 2, 2012 Col. F., the Garrison Commander, came to visit Dexter Elementary. I was able to have time to talk with Colonel F. Here is the interview.

Kaitley (KR): How old were you when you joined the Army?

Col. F (CF): I was twenty-two years old in 1988.

KR: How long have you been in the Army?

CF: I've been in the Army for twenty-four years

KR: What is your MOS?

CF: My MOS is in Human Resources but I call it the People Business. The Human Resource's job is to keep track of the awards for the soldiers and all the deployments. As the Garrison Colonel, he is in a way like the mayor of a town. His favorite place to live would be Germany because all the people there were so friendly and it was very beautiful.

KR: Do you have children?

CF: No, I have two dogs that think they are tough because of their names.

Horse Derby: Art Competition

By: Mikayla

If you're really interested in art you should read this. Almost everyone heard about the art competition, for the horse derby. But they might not know the details, about the art competition. Not everyone can enter. Only the people chosen can put in one of their best pieces of art (of a horse). The picture has to have a horse course. Sense it is a horse derby. A horse derby is a horse race. Sort of like a car race, but with horses.

At the horse derby there is also a competition on who has the fanciest hat. So some pictures or sculpture might also have someone wearing a hat somewhere in it. There are a lot of prizes. Of course there's an overall prize. The overall prize is $300. But to get that you have to beat sculptures, drawings and, etc. Also this is Elementary-high school. So you it's a hard competition. You'd be lucky to win your category. Grade k-2, 2nd place is $15. The 1st place for k-2nd is $25, and two Terrace passes for the horse derby. For 3-5, 2nd place is still $15. The 1st place for 3-5 is also $25, and two terrace passes to the horse derby. Well from what I've seen it's going to be a pretty rough competition this year. That's what I have to say about the art competition.

Open House

By: Sasha and Caleb

Open House was fun because you get to go to all the classrooms. We got to show our parents the special teachers like: Art, P.E. and music, and the computer lab. Ms. M talked about some of the websites that we can go on to get our reading and math books. When you go to other class rooms you can draw pictures for the little kids.

Beauty for Cuties

by: Moregan and Kaitley Rae

Fashion is something extremely important for young teenagers. Today, girls like to wear bright colors such as neon orange, neon lime green, neon yellow and neon pink. On a hot summer day you would wear something like jean shorts and maybe a really cute shirt from Justice. Your nails should have really cute designs.

Top tips

1. Short bangs are good for people with large foreheads.
2. If your too young to wear blush just squeeze your cheeks every now and then.
3. Don't try to change your nail polish with every outfit you wear.
4. Soap and chemicals can damage your nails causing them to wear thin and split.
