

The House on Maple Street

By MLS

Vroom! Crash! “Oh-we-oh!” said a Blurple. The Blurple’s were aliens, and their space ship had crashed into the Earth in 1980. Twenty years later, a housing complex was built on top of their underground spaceship. When the complex was completed, a blond haired boy named Max Phillips moved with his parents into 12051 Maple Street, Salt Lake City, Utah. Ever since he could remember, Max would hear weird noises all through out the house every night at 8:00. He would always tell his mom and dad but they would say, “You have a very good imagination!”

One afternoon Max’s parents went out to eat dinner and go to a movie. “Bye boys. See you soon!” said Mrs. Phillips. “Bye, Mom,” “Bye, Mrs. Phillips!” said Max’s and his friend, Peter a brown haired boy with braces. They were having a sleepover. Max went downstairs to the kitchen to get popcorn and sodas for them to eat while they watched a movie. Before he got to the kitchen, Max heard the noise again! “Oh-we-oh!” Max was so scared. He thought in his head “Is that a real noise?” He stopped for a second. Then, he ran back upstairs after he got the popcorn and the soda because he knew Peter was waiting to watch the movie. As he got up the stairs he yelled “ Peter, guess what I heard this weird noise! I was so scared!” When they were half way through the movie, they felt a rumble and things were falling off of the shelves and crashing onto the floor. Peter went to the window and said, “Wow, we are very high up. You have a huge house!” Then Max said, “What do you mean Peter?” When Max went to go look out of the window, he noticed they kept going farther, and farther, and farther up! Then Peter heard a sound in the kitchen “Ohweoh!” They both raced down to the kitchen and found a truly amazing site!

They found about thirty-five Blurples in the kitchen! It was a horrible site! The Blurples are small dwarf like creatures and had purple and blue tiny drops of blue slime dripping onto the kitchen floor. One of the Blurples was using the faucet in the sink to steer the house! Peter whispered, “Lets go back upstairs and figure this out!” So they raced back upstairs and talked about the aliens and how to get back home before Max’s mother discovered their house was gone.

They decided to try and scare the Burples with masks. So what Max said that his dad stored his scary Halloween masks upstairs in the attic. So, they rushed up to the attic. Next, they went to get water guns from Max’s room. When Max and Peter went into the kitchen none of the Burples paid attention to them, they just said, “Oh-we-oh!” Then they went back to steering the ship because the masks Max and Peter were wearing made them look like Blurples.

Suddenly one of the Blurples got their hand wet because they accidentally lifted up the facet and they started melting! Peter and Max saw this and they rushed to fill up their water guns with water. When they got back to the kitchen, they found that most of the Blurples had already been melted by the water from the faucet. Max felt a slight jolt and then he ran to the window. When he looked out he saw the earth coming closer and closer, faster and faster! He tried to use the faucet to steer the house like the Blurples did. What he didn't know was that the link that was connecting the spaceship and the house was disconnected!

The house and the boys were coming down fast! Then all of the sudden Thud! They hit the ground! As they heard Max's mom get out of her car, they looked at the mess and scrambled to get the slime off of the kitchen floor. When Mrs. Phillips opened the door, they had just dumped what was left of the melted Blurples down the drain.

Mrs. Phillip asked, “How was your evening boys?” they replied “It was nothing special. We just watched a movie.” Max glanced over to Peter with a smile that said “Whew!”
